

Trade Association Governance

Trade associations handle a host of legal and governance issues, often without in-house legal resources.

The lawyers at Hogan Lovells serve as general counsel to many trade associations. We deftly advise on the policy issues and day-in and day-out business matters.

Succession management. Employee leadership development. Employee terminations. Contracts. Tax law. And antitrust compliance.

We counsel on how to lobby Congress without losing your tax status. How to raise money to give to political campaigns. How to handle an audit. Raise money for research. We also help clients work together with coalitions.

With our help, you can effectively carry out your critical mission with confidence.

Latest thinking and events

Hogan Lovells Publications

An expensive omission?

Hogan Lovells Publications

Brexit: trade associations and competition law