

Environment and Climate Change Legislation and Policy

Almost no government action occurs today without close examination through the lenses of environmental impact and climate change. Existing law and regulation and potential policy changes have far reaching implications for your business now and in the future.

At times the drive for new or changed policy ignores economic and social implications, or a full vetting of the science associated with that change,

We can help you manage and affect change in environmental policies, ensure decision-makers have the best information, and secure your business' future.

Representative experience

Successfully represented largest marketer of recycled coal ash in parallel rulemaking and legislative efforts to have EPA regulate disposed coal ash as a nonhazardous waste.

Advise an oil and natural gas company complying with environmental regulations regarding enhanced oil recovery operations.

Represent Supermarkets' Association, Association of Waste Managers, and the Association for Paper Recycling, pursuing amendment of legislation on waste in order to optimize recycling.

Advise a global automotive manufacturer on a variety of issues including global climate change and fuel economy.

Contacts

Mary Anne Sullivan,
Washington, D.C.

Adam M. Kushner,
Washington, D.C.

Practices

Climate Change

Government Relations and Public Affairs

Prepared comments on EPA's hazardous waste generator and pharmaceutical waste rules for multiple retail clients and 11 industrial trade associations.

Drafted and advocated for amendments to California's hazardous waste laws adopted by the California legislature that promotes reverse distribution of consumer products.

Advised BHP Navajo Coal Company before DoI and relevant congressional committees on securing federal approvals to continue reducing air emissions from Four Corners Power Plant.

Latest thinking and events

Webinar

European Green Deal

News

2021 Enforcement Horizon: New administration civil and criminal enforcement efforts

Brochures

Hogan Lovells automotive and mobility thought leadership paper

Hogan Lovells Publications

Will Brexit change the car you drive?

Hogan Lovells Publications

Trump administration issues Executive Order encouraging space mining efforts

Analysis

Recent developments in Australia's oil and gas sector