

Corporate and Shareholder Litigation in Europe

In Europe, we are one of the most trusted advisors for solving corporate and shareholder disputes. Our lawyers are known for getting to the heart of each case, not backing away from the core of the dispute.

Our team of corporate litigators works at the interface between corporate law, litigation, and arbitration rules. We aim to truly understand your business and the economic interplay. Whether it is a post-M&A or joint venture dispute, board member liability claims, corporate governance, or shareholder litigation: We have seen it, done it, and solved it. You can also rely on us when it comes to European aspects of D&O liability or squeeze-out techniques.

Thanks to our specific focus on corporate litigation, we have the experience and the know-how to provide you with first-class service. Our close cooperation with colleagues from other practices allows us to react quickly to new trends such as compliance risks for board members regarding alleged violation of antitrust or data protection law.

We build trusting relationships – our clients say that working with us is refreshingly different. We are not just legal technicians. We look for ways that bring your business forward and make sure you get thoughtful, effective advice from a single source. This gives you a decisive edge in your dispute.
