

Fabian Paehr

Projects Associate

Hamburg

Biography

Fabian Paehr advises on all aspects of international infrastructure and construction projects as well as related investment transactions in the energy, offshore and resources industries. He assists clients in litigating and enforcing their claims before commercial and investment tribunals as well as state courts. He focuses on contract and construction law (e.g. FIDIC, NAC, JCT) as well as international trade and investment law. In particular, he advises on matters at the intersection of public and private law.

Fabian studied law with a primary focus on arbitration and international commercial law at Bucerius Law School, Germany, and Cornell University, USA. He substantiated his skills at the interface of international public and private commercial law with a master's degree in public administration and a Master of Laws in international trade. During his university studies and legal traineeship, Fabian worked at international law firms in Shanghai, New York, Berlin and Hamburg, at the Higher Regional Court of Hamburg as well as the New York Supreme Court, and at the German Federal Foreign Office in New York.

Fabian has been active in numerous international competitions for years, including the Willem C. Vis Moot Court in Hong Kong/Vienna and the ICC Mediation Competition in Paris.
