

Corporate and Commercial Transactions

Your company may be acquiring a company with sensitive data. At Hogan Lovells, we can help you evaluate the company's privacy and security data risks and determine what rights your company will have in the data after closing. Your company may be entering into a collaboration or partnering with a strategic vendor. We understand how to protect your data in the hands of third parties.

We can help you address data risks in your transactions and third-party relationships. We routinely handle global M&A, strategic collaborations, and vendor relationships. And we have helped guard the use, disclosure, and protection of sensitive data and crafted data rights. Clients rely on us to assess risks in deals, draft and negotiate agreements, and develop third-party risk management programs.

Representative experience

Advise numerous companies in public and private M&A in the assessment of global privacy and data security risks and deal structuring.

Structure and negotiate strategic data licenses for global companies in the health care, travel, financial, entertainment, and other sectors.

Develop consumer-facing templates for products and services to secure rights to use data to support innovation and product development.

Contacts

Scott T. Loughlin,
Washington, D.C.

Christopher Wolf,
Washington, D.C.

Harriet Pearson,
Washington, D.C.

Tim P. Tobin,
Washington, D.C.

Practices

Privacy and Cybersecurity

Develop processes for the negotiation and roll out of enterprise-wide data contracting and third-party risk management programs.

Latest thinking and events

Press Releases

Hogan Lovells advises on £71.6 million takeover of Proactis Holdings plc

Press Releases

Hogan Lovells advises Partners Group in US$1 billion sale of industrial real estate portfolio

Press Releases

Hogan Lovells Birmingham marks milestone start to 2021

Press Releases

Hogan Lovells advises LINKBANCORP on strategic combination with GNB Financial Services

Press Releases

Still going strong: Hogan Lovells renews support for British Paralympic Association and launches 2021 Nicholas Cheffings Para Athlete Bursary

Webinar

Antitrust and tech: Key issues explained and explored